

Agenda: GGP-EPI Training for Social and Political Stakeholders

Why the future of our population matters?

Monday, 19 November 2018

British Embassy in Berlin

Wilhelmstraße 70/71
10117 - Berlin
Germany

10:00 – 11:00 Registration & Coffee

11:00 – 11:30 Welcome and Introduction

Anne H. Gauthier

Netherlands Interdisciplinary Demographic Institute (NIDI), Director of the Generations and Gender Programme (GGP), Professor of Comparative Family Studies, University of Groningen.

Wendy Sigle

Professor of Gender and Family Studies, The London School of Economics and Political Sciences.

11:30 – 12:30 What does the data revolution tell us and not tell us about population trends?

Ridhi Kashyap

Professorial Fellow and Associate Professor of Social Demography at Nuffield College, University of Oxford.

12:30 – 13:30 Lunch

13:30 – 14:30 Is the social polarization of family formation a social justice issue?

Ann Berrington

Joint Head of Social Statistics & Demography and Professor of Demography & Social Statistics, University of Southampton, and member of the ESRC Centre for Population Change.

14:30 – 15:30 Will a higher proportion of older population/retirees make intergenerational conflicts more likely?

Emily Grundy

Director of the Institute for Social and Economic Research and Professor of Population Science, University of Essex.

15:30 – 16:00 Coffee Break

16:00 – 17:00 What are the differences in the family lives of migrants and their descendants in Europe?

Hill Kulu

Professor of Human Geography and Demography, University of St Andrews, and member of the ESRC Centre for Population Change.

17:00 – 17:30 Conclusions followed by a reception

Anne H. Gauthier

Netherlands Interdisciplinary Demographic Institute (NIDI), Director of the Generations and Gender Programme (GGP), Professor of Comparative Family Studies, University of Groningen.

This event receives funding from the Horizon 2020 Research and Innovation Programme under grant agreement n° 739511 for the project Generations and Gender Programme: Evaluate, Plan, Initiate.